Introduced into French law in 2019, the legal status of "société à mission" (company with a mission) has since been adopted by more than 2,600 companies. This seminar aims to share the current state of our research at Mines Paris – PSL, conducted in collaboration with a network of researchers and businesses, and to invite academic partners to discuss and critically examine its findings. Focusing on how "sociétés à mission" operate, their effects, and the conditions under which they are effective, it will explore several recurring questions, such as:

01
DEFINING THE MISSION
How much freedom do companies have in defining their mission?

02
CONTROVERSIAL ACTIVITIES
Are controversial activities compatible with this status?

03
STATUS OR LABEL
Does it constitute a public or legal label?

04
PUBLIC POLICY
To what extent can corporate missions contribute to public policy?

HYBRID EVENT · ON SITE & ONLINE

Join us on site at Mines Paris – PSL (Room L312) or online via Microsoft Teams. The seminar is held in English.
